Street Improvements.

To the Citizens of the Town of Exeter:

Your committee, appointed at the annual meeting in March last, to superintend the macadamization of certain streets, beg leave to report that all the streets voted to be improved have been completed to our satisfaction, without exceeding the appropriation voted for the work.

Operations were begun on Lincoln street, at its junction with Garfield street, and continued to Main street. The grade of the street was raised considerably at one point, to its manifest improvement.

Main street was macadamized from the railroad crossing to Cass street.

Newmarket road was macadamized from the foot of Town Hill to Secretary Hill. Owing to the nature of the roadbed of this street, it was thought best to lay a sub-pavement of flat stones as far as the gas works; this with the macadam made a solid pavement averaging two feet in thickness, from which we anticipate the most favorable results.

Court street was macadamized from Front street to Maple street.

Front street was macadamized from Gill street to the railroad crossing.

Portsmouth avenue was macadamized from its junction with High street to the entrance to the grounds of Mr. D. F. Hayes.

In addition to the work proper, substantial stone and concrete crossings were put in on High street and at the foot of Town Hill, and many minor improvements, incident to our work on the streets, were made at different points.

A statement of our receipts and expenditures is appended.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM H. C. FOLLANSBY,

HEZEKIAH SCAMMON,

Chief Engineer's Report.

In compliance with the law, I submit my report as Chief Engineer for the past year, giving account of fires and alarms, with the condition of fire apparatus under my care.

We have answered to sixteen alarms, as follows:

April 4.—Needless alarm for brush fire in John Haley's pasture.

April 6.—Box 34, fire in woods of John Wadleigh, damage, $50.

April 13.—Box 25, fire in the Oak lands, damage $500.

April 15.—Box 23, false alarm.

April 16.—Box 36, residence of Joseph W. Merrill, Main street, damage, $8,000 on house and goods; insured.

April 20.—Box 34, woods of Warren Tilton, loss $15.

April 21.—Box 25, woods of Hezekiah Scammon, caused by sparks from railroad, damage $25.

May 6.—Box 25, slight blaze on roof of tenement house, owned by L. Nealey, opposite depot.

June 18.—Box 34, unoccupied slaughter house of Jacob Greely, loss $250, no insurance.

June 20.—Box 31, soap house of W. A. Jones, partially destroyed, damage $250.

Aug. 11.—Box 36, tenement house of Mrs. C. A. Colbath, Newmarket road, defective chimney, damage $400, covered by insurance.

Sept. 17.—Box 36, tenement house of Gunnison Dudley, Water street, caused by oil stove, damage $300, fully insured.

Oct. 4.—Box 23, Exeter Brass Foundry, caused by molten brass, loss $1,000, covered by insurance.

Oct. 29.—Box 45, drug store of A. S. Wetherell, explosion of chemicals, loss $300, fully insured.

Nov. 10.—Box 45, meat market of Geo. Moulton, lamp explosion, damage $200, insured.

Nov. 13.—Box 23, unoccupied house of B. J. Perkins, Brentwood road, total loss, $1,200, insured.

Feb. 4.—Box 25, slight fire in house of Oliver Lane, damage nominal.

During the year extra repairs have been made on the steamer. It has been taken apart, wheels repaired, tires reset, and painted the first time since purchased twenty years ago. Steamer hose carriage has been repaired and painted. The steamer house has been thoroughly renovated and is as good as new. We have added 500 feet of hose to the department, as some of our hose was getting old. Six new boxes have been added to the fire alarm from the amount, $500, appropriated at the last town meeting.

New poles have been set and painted, wires changed from trees to poles and line thoroughly overhauled. The whole system is in good working condition; still improvements could be made which would also increase expenses.

The apparatus under my care is in good order and the whole department will compare favorably with that of larger towns.

I wish to thank the public, my assistant engineers and members of the fire department for their prompt attention to duty.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. H. GOOCH, Chief Engineer.

Robinson Seminary.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

The Honorable Board of Trustees:

You have kept yourself so much in touch and sympathy with our school during the past year that manifestly any extended report from me would be superfluous.

No radical changes either in courses of study or methods of instruction have been recently made. The text books in Language and English Grammar have been changed and modifications made in teaching the younger girls Language. The crowded condition of the course in the fifth year has been somewhat improved by the omission of Book Keeping. The teaching of American Literature has been transferred to Miss Moulton, and the study of English Literature begun in the Fifth instead of the Seventh year.

The Normal Class is composed of ten young ladies, five our own graduates, and in scholarship and enthusiasm is as promising as any of its predecessors.

The Cooking lessons in the department of Domestic Science are now in progress. The Sixth and Fifth Classes work in the kitchen under the instruction of Miss Morrison on Tuesday of each week. I have somewhat simplified the plan of instruction. Two courses are offered and both are now elementary in comparison with the corresponding courses of last year. Attention is given to the economic value of food, its relation to the nourishment of the body and its chemistry. The expense of the present course will be much less than that of former years. I trust that next year we shall have the means at our disposal to adopt the next contemplated measure in our Domestic Science department—the establishment of sewing courses in the preparatory class.

Regular work in the gymnasium was begun under the instruction of Miss Barrows in the autumn, after the days became too short and the weather too inclement for outdoor exercise. Some pupils and more parents have the prejudice of ignorance in regard to the value of physical culture. But good work is being done and I can see results in improved carriage and conquest over nervousness. When the spring days invite to outdoor life again the gymnasium will be closed. I am glad to see a strong interest growing up in our school in tennis. I recommend that we encourage it by fitting up one or two really good tennis courts for the young ladies.

Several friends of the school have remembered us during the year. Besides the munificent gifts of Mr. Moses to the Normal and Art departments, Mr. Gilbert Morrison has presented photographs of pictures in Antwerp Cathedral. Mr. H. H. Moses and Capt. A. C. Grout have made valuable additions to the cabinets of minerals and fossils. Mr. C. C. Russell has contributed to the Natural history collection, and Col. E. H. Gilman has loaned a valuable case of stuffed birds. Mr. J. T. Perry has contributed mounted specimens of Australian ferns. The Class of '93 has given a substantial revolving book case; the Seminary Glee and Banjo clubs upwards of sixty dollars for the purchase of books and the Board of Editors of Our Magazine have hung in the Academic room a rich picture. President Furnald has presented to the library the new atlas of New Hampshire, a gift which we greatly appreciate. Our reference library needs enlargement. It does not compare favorably with our other appliances. Such large demands must be made upon our funds for other purposes that I do not propose to appeal to you for money for the purchase of reference books. I will rather take upon myself the responsibility of providing means for the growth of this most important adjunct of our school.

More has been accomplished even than usual for the improvement and beautifying of our school edifice. The Academic and English History rooms have been painted in pleasing and restful colors. The preparation of the halls by tint and molding for the Moses Collection was an adornment to the building even before the collection was arranged.

We are all planning and devising for the increased usefulness of the Seminary in the future. If we were to take the narrowest and most selfish interpretation possible of Mr. Robinson's will—that his munificence was to be used solely for the good of our own Exeter girls—I should urge as the most important step the enlargement of the usefulness and attractiveness of our Academic and Normal departments and the throwing open of our doors most hospitably to girls of other towns and distant regions, inviting them to come in and be educated with our girls and give their influence to mold us and ours. If we wish to subserve the highest welfare and future prosperity of our Seminary we must do all in our power to gain the larger attendance of non-resident girls. We can, and so must offer to pupils from abroad advantages as good as are furnished by any other girls' school in New England—opportunity for thorough education and nurture in all the graces of womanhood.

GEO. N. CROSS.

In round numbers, five hundred volumes have been placed on the shelves of the library since last year's report was submitted. This is exclusive of over one hundred volumes of government publications added during the year, which for lack of shelf room in the library proper, have been placed for temporary keeping in a small rear apartment. There are no facilities here for thorough arrangement, yet sufficient order has been attained to afford some opportunity for consultation. There are over five hundred volumes of this class of publications. Some of them are of positive and increasing value; others are interesting, if not important, while the demand for the remainder is likely to continue very restricted. As a whole, while generally not equalling in attractiveness the works purchased for the library, they deserve preservation. A regular system of exchange has been carried on with the government; duplicates being sent back to Washington, and imperfect sets filled from thence.

It will thus be seen that lack of room has been one of the chief drawbacks to the library in its present situation, and this want extends to accommodations for the constantly increasing number of persons desirous of consulting books without taking them away.

The danger of fire in a building so combustible and occupied for so many purposes, has been kept in mind by the committee, and important additions of books have been followed by an increase of insurance, deemed equivalent to the growth in value of the property. Some new temporary shelves have been erected, and more would be desirable, could room be found for them. The existing condition is in itself an eloquent argument for providing enlarged and incombustible quarters with the least possible delay. A collection of over eight thousand volumes ought to be fully accessible to those who own them, and especially should be assured against destruction by fire.

Some valuable works of reference, too bulky for general circulation, have been added during the year. Among these are Hurd's Atlas, containing maps of every town and city in New Hampshire, and elaborate treatises on architecture, in both its theoretical and practical details. More books of this class, useful and well nigh indispensable to a knowledge of the useful arts, and of national history, would have been bought but for the causes above mentioned. When safe and adequate quarters are provided for them they should surely be procured.

The library is increasingly appreciated both by students of art, science and history, and by those who patronize it for the pleasure of reading. The special restriction of the Merrill fund to the purchase of works of "permanent value" leaves free the devotion of a large proportion of the town's appropriation to procuring light and popular reading. The committee has welcomed suggestions for the purchase of any book not already bought, and as far as possible has complied with the recommendations made.

Between September 1, 1892, and March 1, 1893, 5,614 volumes were drawn from the library and this average is typical of the whole year, except perhaps the warm summer months, when a good many people are absent from town. The number of cards issued to permanent residents during the year, each card representing a family, was 786. The number issued to students was just one hundred.

During the latter part of the present year the library will no doubt be moved into its new home. This may involve changes in the arrangements of the books. In their present contracted quarters classification has been an impossibility, and so they have been placed numerically. In most well arranged libraries separate alcoves are devoted to each subject or cognate classes of subjects. This plan, if followed, will involve a renumbering of the books, a task which can best be performed before removal takes place. In connection with this, a new catalogue would be a necessity. The present one was compiled in 1885, before the Merrill bequest began to double the yearly additions, and hence is far from full.

A supplement and a few bulletins have been printed, and a card catalogue and written posters, which of course can be consulted only on the spot, have partially made up for the deficiency. These must suffice until the new library building is completed and its contents are arranged.

It is a question how soon a complete catalogue should be published, but the work of preparing the bulk of it could most conveniently be done in connection with the renumbering. This preliminary plan was adopted at Dover, and the excellent catalogue, which was the result, was sold to citizens—one copy to each family—at less than cost. The task of preparation would involve considerable labor, and must be performed by someone having knowledge and experience. The cost would not exceed $150, and might not much exceed $100.

The committee presents these facts, without suggesting the course to be pursued. Whatever changes in the number or functions of the committee may be thought desirable are also matters for the town to determine.

The committee would again bear testimony to the zeal and thorough training of the librarian. During the past year she has further qualified herself for her responsible and increasing duties, by attending at her own cost, state and national conferences of prominent members of her profession and by a careful study of various systems of cataloguing and classification.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
